General Manager Future
Fuels and Future Growth

Origin Energy

Tracey Boyes is General Manager Future Fuels and Future Growth at ASX listed integrated energy company, Origin Energy. Tracey is accountable for Origin's renewable fuels, carbon management and future growth activities.

During 12 years with Origin, Tracey has worked across the energy value chain, including upstream exploration and development, generation, LPG and retailing parts of the business. Prior to working at Origin, Tracey held senior roles in New Zealand with Contact Energy, New Zealand's second-largest integrated energy company engaged in gas, hydro and geothermal electricity generation, and retailing.

Tracey has a real passion for bringing greenfields projects to life, transformation and integration, social performance and risk management.

Tracey will speak about Origin's plans, how Origin is focused on being customer led and how developing export-scale projects will help drive cost down and provide reliability, flexibility and affordability for Australian homes and businesses.

With the recent release of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) highly anticipated Climate Change Report, and the stark findings underscoring an overwhelming global urgency to decarbonise, Tracey will focus the second part of her address on the importance of Australia leading the world and creating a Hydrogen Industry.

Tracey, originally from New Zealand, is a Chartered Accountant and holds a Bachelor of Commerce and Administration in Accounting and Commercial Law, and a Bachelor of Arts in Maori Language and Culture from the Victoria University of Wellington in New Zealand.
